FOR IMMEDIATE RELEASE: THREE WEST DENVER COMMUNITIES SEEK TO SUPPORT FAMILY-OWNED BUSINESS WITH NEW ONLINE ORDERING PLATFORMS

DENVER — April 10, 2020

Restaurant owners in Denver's Westwood and South Federal neighborhoods want the Denver community to know that they are open for business during the COVID-19 crisis, so they've launched two new online platforms to support these family-owned businesses. Westwoodfood.com highlights the best dishes from nine local Latin restaurants and LittleSaigonDenver.com provides access to all of South Federal's vibrant Asian offerings.

In this time of uncertainty, it's important to take care of our neighbors by supporting their small businesses so they can survive now and thrive in the future.

Although these restaurants are not new, the majority are unaccustomed to online sales. Thanks to a collaboration between the Denver Streets Partnership, BuCu West, and the West Denver Renaissance Collaborative, menus and contact information for restaurants in two of Denver's most culturally-rich corridors will now be available online. The unique, family-owned restaurants and businesses in these areas offer authentic experiences that can't be found anywhere else in Denver.

About the Denver Streets Partnership, BuCu West and WDRC:

The Denver Streets Partnership works to reclaim Denver streets for people walking, biking, or using transit and to build safe, healthy, and equitable communities. Their Friends of Little Saigon initiative is focused on the pedestrian environment between Alameda and Mississippi on South Federal. Additionally, Little Saigon is embracing family-friendly community events as a way to bring cohesiveness to the district. For more information about the Friends of Little Saigon initiative, visit www.friendsoflittlesaigon.com

BuCu West is committed to promoting and supporting entrepreneurs, small businesses, cultural organizations, and residents in the Westwood area. As an economic development resource, BuCu West provides businesses with individual consulting, strategic property development and stimulates infrastructure improvements for the benefits of Westwood residents. Many artisans, families, and restaurateurs are showcasing their talents and passions with the support of this partnership. For more information about BuCu West, visit www.bucwest.com

The West Denver Renaissance Collaborative (WDRC) is a collective impact organization partnering, advocating, and driving solutions that address the top community needs of nine west Denver neighborhoods. WDRC works to elevate local assets and leaders with a focus on equitable access, healthy communities, and minimizing involuntary displacement. For more information about WDRC, visit www.myWDRC.org
